

SKELETON USED BY PROSECUTION

Gruesome Exhibit in the Trial of Nan Patterson.

DR. O'HANLON'S TESTIMONY

MANY SENSATIONAL STORIES
CURRENT.

New York, Dec. 12.—A headless human skeleton and dorsal vertebrae ribs played an important part in the trial of Nan Patterson for the murder of Caesar Young today. The gruesome exhibits were made use of in the examination of Dr. Philip O'Hanlon, the coroner's physician who performed the autopsy on Young's body. Miss Patterson's counsel protested at the use of the skeleton, asserting that it did not compare correctly with the structure of the dead man's body, but his objections were overruled.

The skeleton was used to decide the course of the bullet after it entered Young's body. The prosecution contended that it had gone straight to the spine, which the state lawyers believed proved that Young did not kill himself. Assuming that Young, with the pistol in his right hand, had crossed it over his chest and shot into his left side, the prosecution contended that the bullet would have traveled to the left. The fact that it flew straight inward to the spine was advanced as proof that the wound was not self-inflicted.

Took a Straight Course.

Dr. O'Hanlon was positive that the bullet had taken a straight course to the right.

Lawyer Levy, for the defense, tried to gain an admission that the muscular covering of the ribs at the point of entrance of the bullet may have deflected its course, but Dr. O'Hanlon declared that there had been no deflection until the bullet struck the spine.

When Mr. Levy asked Dr. O'Hanlon if he had not at first declared the case to be a suicide, the prosecution objected and the objection was sustained.

Dr. O'Hanlon testified that he had found powder marks on Young's fingers. His testimony as to the course of the bullet was corroborated by Dr. Rigdon of the Hudson street hospital.

William Stemm testified that the driver of the cab lifted the trap and looked in after the shot was fired.

Justice Davis said from the bench that a gross impropriety had been committed by a newspaper in publishing what purported to be the views of the wives of the jurors concerning the case. He cautioned the jurors not to discuss the testimony even in their own families.

Sensational Stories.

Stories of a sensational turn were current today when the trial of the case of Nan Patterson, charged with the murder of Caesar Young, was resumed in the supreme court.

According to the story blank subterfuge has been obtained and it is said that even a blank petition for the writ of habeas corpus has been filled in, should a narrow make its immediate use advisable.

This startling turn in the case was occasioned by the intimation of the state that a person who advised and engineered the escape of J. Morgan Smith, the actress' brother-in-law, and his wife would be prosecuted on a charge of conspiring to defeat the ends of justice.

It is stated that the state will take at least two more days to submit its evidence. The intentions of the defense have been obscure. That a defense will be offered is now considered certain, however, in view of the fact that a number of witnesses, including three who claim to have witnessed Young shoot himself, have been subpoenaed.

GIFT TO UNIVERSITY.

London, Dec. 12.—Sir Donald Currie, the ship owner, has given $125,000 to Edinburgh university to extend its usefulness and assist the Carnegie trust in carrying out its work.

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY BEFORE SMOOT COMMITTEE

A.—The one last married.
Q.—Would not that be adultery?
A.—It would be if I continued to live as the husband of the other women, but I do not sustain such relations with more than one.

His Idea of Manifesto.

Mr. Reynolds said he understood that the manifesto of 1890 permitted him to live with his plural wives without violating the law, but that no further wives could be contracted. Witness acknowledged that he has had children by two wives since the manifesto of 1890. Witness had never preached against polygamy, nor had he tried to get others to do so.

"I have held my tongue," said Mr. Reynolds.

"Your situation made it necessary for you to do so, did it not?"

"I think it did," he said.

Mr. Reynolds said he did not know of any effort made by any officials of the church to carry out the provision of the Woodruff manifesto putting an end to polygamy.

Accused His Daughter.

Mr. Reynolds said the only plural marriage he had heard of since the manifesto was that of his daughter, which took place in Mexico.

Senator Dubois asked Mr. Reynolds why his daughter or her husband had been cut off from the church because of the marriage. The witness said both of them had been in Mexico and had never been before the church authorities for trial.

Mr. Reynolds said that he was one of the advisers who aided in perfecting the Woodruff manifesto, which was first submitted in President Woodruff's handwriting. He testified that the committee had revised the manifesto.

Inspiration Amended.

"I believe the manifesto is said to have been inspired," asked Chairman Burrows.

"It was a revelation from the Almighty," he said.

"And you changed it?"

"You just changed the phraseology?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then, as I understand it," said Senator Burrows, "when this revelation came from the Almighty, the grammar was bad and you corrected it?"

The witness said the phraseology had not been inspired, but was President Woodruff's own. This testimony kept the committee roarin' in an uproar.

John Henry Hamlin's Testimony.

John Henry Hamlin of Salt Lake City, the brother of Lillian Hamlin, who the prosecution have tried to show was married to Apostle Abraham Cannon on the high seas in 1896, said it was the family custom that his sister was married to Mr. Cannon in the summer of 1896 and that the ceremony was performed by President Smith on the Pacific coast. Lillian was said by her brother to have been an attractive young woman. He had not heard from her for four or five years, and did not know where she was now. She had one child, he said, a daughter who goes by the name of Martha Cannon.

"Well, nobody doubts that the child is Abraham Cannon's daughter?" asked Mr. Taylor.

"No, sir," was the reply.

Lost Track of Lillian.

On cross-examination the witness said he had no positive proof that his sister had married Cannon. His sister had attended the funeral services of Mr. Cannon, and he had inherited the estate of Mr. Cannon. Mr. Hamlin said he had heard from his wife that Lillian had been married to Mr. Cannon and that the ceremony had been performed on the high seas by the president of the church. His sister had attended a normal school in New York after her husband's death, but the witness could not say where she was now. He admitted that he had kept track of all of his other sisters, but did not know whether his sister Lillian was now in Mexico or Canada.

The committee then adjourned until tomorrow.

MONTANA MINE CLOSED BY STATE INSPECTOR

Butte, Mont., Dec. 12.—A special from Red Lodge, Mont., says:

As a result of the action of State Coal Mine Inspector Welsh, the Gebro mine, one of the largest taxpaying concerns of the county, was closed down this evening.

Sheriff Potter serving an injunction order issued in the district court by Judge O'Connell.

It is claimed in the complaint of the coal inspector that the Clark Fork Coal company is violating the state laws by failing to provide proper ventilation and in not having a manway for the use of miners independent of the regular haulage way.

Under the law the mine will remain closed until a manway is made. About 300 men are affected.

SOLDIER WENT WRONG.

Missoula, Mont., Dec. 12.—Sergeant Fox, formerly of company K, Thirty-fourth infantry, has been convicted of forging the name of Captain Maxey to a check, and sentenced by a court-martial to five years imprisonment. Fox deserted after passing the check, but was captured here.

METHOD IS EXPENSIVE Russian Comment on Roosevelt's Idea of Larger Army and Navy.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 12.—The newspapers here are just beginning to make belated comments on President Roosevelt's message to congress. Its reception generally is favorable. The Novoe Vremya considers it presents nothing of particular importance. "An endorsement of imperialism and the Monroe doctrine being expected from Mr. Roosevelt," the paper adds that the president's idea is that the United States is doing its share in keeping the peace on the old world, and of preparing for war.

"It says," "will find it very expensive, but as Europe has, but possibly it is the only way. If the Utopian theories were realized and the civilized powers disarmed, humanity would fall into the depths of barbarism. No means have yet been found for insuring respect of international law except armed force."

With regard to President Roosevelt's statement on the subjects of Kishineff and the passports of American Jews, the Novoe Vremya says:

"When congress enacts a stringent immigration law to keep out undesirable emigrants, coupled with a law to prevent naturalized Americans who have no intention of living in the United States from shielding themselves behind American passports, there will be less trouble over the passports of American Jews and Kishineff will have less interest for the United States."

THE DEATH RECORD.

Frederick Hammacher.

Berlin, Dec. 12.—Frederick Hammacher, who for many years was a prominent national liberal leader in the Reichstag, died today of a complication of diseases, after an illness of two years.

William H. Forman.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Dec. 12.—William H. Forman, who had been connected in various capacities with the New York Press, the Evening Mail, the Christian Leader, the Manhattan Magazine and the New York Herald, died today at his Pringle Home for Literary Men, aged 78.

Rear Admiral Aston.

New York, Dec. 12.—Rear Admiral Ralph Aston, U. S. N., retired, died at his home in Brooklyn today of a complication of diseases, after an illness of two years.

CHADWICK WOMAN IS UNDER INDICTMENT

Oleott of New York came to Cleveland and was introduced to him over the telephone by Mrs. Chadwick. Judge Oleott assured him that he would relieve Mrs. Chadwick from her unenviable position. He knew Judge Oleott was here, because he was assured by a check for $15,000, signed by Judge Oleott he received the next day.

His Last Visit.

He last saw her Nov. 10. She desired to go east, and had no money. He cashed the check on the high seas by the president of the church. His sister had attended a normal school in New York after her husband's death, but the witness could not say where she was now. He admitted that he had kept track of all of his other sisters, but did not know whether his sister Lillian was now in Mexico or Canada.

"Well, nobody doubts that the child is Abraham Cannon's daughter?" asked Mr. Taylor.

"No, sir," was the reply.

On cross-examination the witness said he had no positive proof that his sister had married Cannon. His sister had attended the funeral services of Mr. Cannon, and he had inherited the estate of Mr. Cannon. Mr. Hamlin said he had heard from his wife that Lillian had been married to Mr. Cannon and that the ceremony had been performed on the high seas by the president of the church. His sister had attended a normal school in New York after her husband's death, but the witness could not say where she was now. He admitted that he had kept track of all of his other sisters, but did not know whether his sister Lillian was now in Mexico or Canada.

The committee then adjourned until tomorrow.

Still another incident was detailed by the witness. "When Mrs. Chadwick was in Europe," he said, "she wrote that Dr. Chadwick was in the hospital seriously ill. The daughter was also ill, and he was in sore distress. Emil came home to save expenses, and here he was taken with typhoid fever. She called me that she had no money, and I sent her $15,000. The shock of Emil's illness made her seriously ill, and when she arrived here she was thought to be dying. She then told me where, if anything happened to her, I would find a letter to Mr. Carnegie, and he would settle all her indebtedness."

Witness had seen no other notes, but had seen a check which was sent to his house when he was ill. It was for $90,000 and had Andrew Carnegie's name signed to it. Whether any money was ever procured on it, he did not know.

As to the value of Mrs. Chadwick's household fittings, Mr. Reynolds thought they might be worth about $20,000. He said he took a chattel mortgage about two years ago, but had never recorded it.

This concluded the examination of Mr. Reynolds, and the hearing was put over until Saturday for the presence of further witnesses. Those who are expected are Mrs. Chadwick and her son Emil. If they are not in this city by that time the examination will be put over still further.

United States District Attorney Sullivan declared tonight that he would insist upon the personal attendance of Mr. Carnegie at the session of the federal grand jury on Wednesday.

"If Mr. Carnegie," said Mr. Sullivan, "is unable to come, all that will be necessary for him to do is to submit a statement to the district attorney in New York to the effect that his health will not permit him to come. If he does this, his sworn statement will go as far with the jury as his actual presence."

OLCOTT WAS SUSPICIOUS.

New York Lawyer Wanted to See Securities.

New York, Dec. 12.—Referring to Iri Reynolds' testimony before the grand jury in Cleveland today, in which Judge Oleott, of the law firm of Black, Olcott, Gruber & Bonyne, of New York, is said to have assured Mr. Reynolds that he would relieve Mrs. Chadwick from her unenviable position, Abraham Gruber, speaking for the firm, tonight said:

"In November, 1903, Mr. Chadwick came to the office of our firm and said that her affairs in Cleveland were in a complicated condition and she desired us to straighten them out. She represented herself as a wealthy woman with a fortune of about $500,000. She asked that some member of the firm be sent to Cleveland, and Judge Oleott was sent. The matter of the $500,000 securities came up, and Judge Oleott asked to examine them. Mr. Reynolds said this was impossible, as even he had never seen the contents of the package. Judge Oleott, believing all was not right, threw up the case immediately."

LATEST EQUIPMENT.

Harriman Roads to Have 100 New Locomotives.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—Julius Kruttschmitt, director of maintenance and transportation for the Harriman lines, has just placed orders for the construction of 100 locomotives for distribution among the Southern Pacific, the Union Pacific, the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railway & Navigation company.

The order will necessitate the expenditure of between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000, and is one of the largest of the kind ever recorded. All but fifteen of the engines are for freight service, about ten are switching engines and only five are for passenger service.

It is understood that the Southern Pacific will get nearly half of the locomotives for general distribution throughout its lines, including the Central Pacific and the Shasta route.

The orders have been placed in such a way that the entire lot of engines will be delivered in less than twelve months.

FIRST STAGE OF CHRISTMAS RUSH BEGINS AT THE DOWNTOWN STORES

The real beginning of the holiday shopping rush was yesterday. Of course there had been much purchasing of gifts prior to that time, but at no time have the stores been filled with the eager purchasers who were seen in large assortments yesterday. The various attractions calculated to add complications to the problems of shopping, such as mechanical devices for windows and for toy departments, were all in full blast, and the consequences in many cases were blockades on the sidewalks and general delay.

The threatened storm had something to do with reminding the general buyer that Christmas is near at hand, and the glad faces of merchants and department heads spoke volumes about the increase in trade. Much of the buying was done in the toy departments, where, during all the morning hours, while yet the little ones were in school or kindergarten, the mothers and many of the fathers as well were holding consultations with Santa Claus as to the best articles for his pack. The jewelry stores did an active business, too, and the curio stores and souvenir places were kept busy during the day. The usual tired shoppers were seen catching the late cars home and everything wore a general air of preparation for the holidays.

VARDAMAN AGAIN.

Mississippi Governor Makes Sensational Speech.

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 12.—Governor Vardaman today made the opening speech at the Cotton and Corn carnival. After welcoming the visitors he branched off into politics and made a very sensational utterance. In touching on the attitude of southern representatives should assume their right against the reduction of the southern representation, the governor said:

"Instead of going to the congress of the United States and saying, 'There is no distinction made in Mississippi because of color and sex, and we are willing to accept the truth and say this: We tried for many years to live in peace and harmony with the negro, and we saw the public funds squandered; we saw the institutions crumbling; we saw the civilization that our forefathers had fought for passing away, and the law of self-preservation being the first law, we observed it. We rose in the majesty and highest type of Anglo-Saxon manhood and took the reins of government out of the hands of the carpetbagger and negro, and he help us God, from now on we will never share any sovereignty or dominion with him again.'"

SENATE CONFIRMATIONS.

Albert L. Mills Gets the Coveted Star.

Washington, Dec. 12.—The senate today confirmed a large number of nominations in executive session, including the following:

Albert L. Mills, brigadier general, U. S. A.; Norman S. Ruck, United States attorney, district of Idaho; Henry B. Miller, Oregon, consul general at New Chwang, China; Walter F. Freer, Hawaii, chief justice of the supreme court of the territory of Hawaii; Alfred S. Hartwell, Hawaii, and Francis M. Hatch, Hawaii, associate justices of the supreme court of the territory of Hawaii; John A. Mathewson, Charles F. Parsons and Jacob Hardy, all of Hawaii, judges of the Third, Fourth and Fifth circuits of Hawaii, respectively.

Postmasters: New Mexico—Edward Pennington, Deming; Robert Kellahin, Roswell.

Nevada—Samuel G. Anderson, Winnemucca.

California—Frederick B. Nichols, McClelland; E. J. Ford, Rio Vista; George H. Dillis, Soder's Home; Hiram H. Richmond, Auburn; William J. Kirby, Colliage; Cora B. Wales, Colfax; Joseph Smith, Downey; John M. Jolley, Marysville.

CLAYTON WILL RETIRE.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Unofficial announcements have been made that Mr. Clayton, the American minister to China, will be offered the American ambassadorship to Mexico. In any event, W. W. Rockwell, chief of the Bureau of American Republics, it is said, will succeed Mr. Clayton at Peking. Mr. Rockwell was the American special commissioner to China after the Boxer troubles, and has long been the president's choice for the Chinese mission. General Powell Clayton, American ambassador to Mexico, will retire next March.

PROPOSED SALARY RAISE.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Senator Stewart today introduced a bill to fix presidential and congressional salaries. It proposes to raise the salary of the president to $100,000 a year, of the vice president to $50,000 each, and of each senator, representative and delegate to $10,000. It is provided that the bill shall take effect on March 1, 1906.

MARRIED IN ITALY.

Palermo, Italy, Dec. 12.—Commander Boyle of the British war and Miss Lily Gardiner, daughter of Beaumont Gardiner, an American, were married here today.

MISS HAPGOOD TELLS HOW SHE WAS CURED OF FALLOPIAN AND OVARIAN INFLAMMATION—AND ESCAPED AN AWFUL OPERATION BY USING LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for four years with what the doctors called Salpingitis (inflammation of the fallopian tubes) and ovaritis, which was most distressing and painful ailments, affecting all the surrounding parts, undermining the constitution, and sapping the life forces. If you had seen me a year ago, before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and had noticed the sunken eyes, hollow complexion, and general emaciated condition, and compared that person with me as I am today, robust, hearty and well, you would not wonder that I feel thankful to you and your wonderful medicine, which restored me to new life and health in five months, and saved me from an awful operation."—Miss IRENE HARGOOD, 1022 Sandwich St., Windsor, Ont.

Ovaritis or inflammation of the ovaries or fallopian tubes which adjoin the uterus may result from sudden stopping of the monthly flow, from inflammation of the womb, and many other causes. The slightest indication of trouble with the ovaries, indicated by dull throbbing pain in the side, accompanied by heat and shooting pains, should claim your instant attention. It will not cure itself, and a hospital operation, with all its terrors, may easily result from neglect.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words. Before I wrote to you telling how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steady and spent lots of money in medicine besides, but it all failed to do me any good. My menses did not appear in that time, and I suffered much pain. I would daily have fainting spells, headache, backache and it was hard for me to do my work."

"I used your medicine and treatment as directed, and after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, my menses appeared, my womb troubles left me, and I have been regular ever since. I used fourteen bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier together, and am now restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you, I would have been in my grave."

"I will always recommend your wonderful remedies, and hope that these few lines may lead others who suffer as I did to try your remedies."—Mrs. T. C. WILLIAMS, R. R. No. 1, Manning, Iowa.

Such unquestionable testimony proves the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over diseases of women.

Women should remember that they are privileged to consult Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., about their illness, entirely free.
